DON'T LET THE MOVIE SPOIL THE BOOK

Over the last few weeks it has really hit home how many movies are coming out that are based off of a book. Maybe this has been going on for a long time now but to me it just seems to be a lot more common lately. In the last two weeks I know I have helped a student pick out a book and have to quickly return it to the shelf because it is a movie. In the time I wrote this article there probably has been five more books that have been made into a movie. Here are some movies that are coming out in the near future that are based off of a book. Please grab the book and read it before you watch it. Let your imagination make the movie.

Panthers Against Destructive Decisions

Ryan Krabbe~

Every month SADD groups from across the country focus on one particular phrase or word for the month. For the month of March, the key item that SADD groups across the nation will focus on is inhalants and known as National Inhalants and question what falls under the ranges from a aerosol sprays, to average citizen of the United ple times throughout a normal that encounters the inhalant is poison use. The month of March is Poison month. Now one may ask the category of an inhalant. An inhalant gasoline and even cooking spray. The States encounters an inhalant multi-day. Intentionally or not, the person more than likely breathing in the fumes produced by the inhalant whether that is preparing a meal with cooking spray, or cleaning up a mess in the living room with carpet stain remover. However, more people than ever are intentionally using inhalants nowadays. Inhalants are relatively easy to get and they are cheaper than the average drug which would get one high. The primary goal that an inhalant user wants to achieve is getting high and they can do that relatively achieve that easily and with little cost with inhalants. To stop inhalant use or at least to limit the use of inhalants an older guardian must counsel their kid at a young age and warn them about the dangers that inhalants can bring upon them over time. Kayla's Recommendation

Kayla Throne~ Shiver by Maggie Stiefvater is a great book to read this month for Book-A-Month! It's about a girl named Grace who falls in love with a wolf. The story can be very deceiving and it really pulls you in with the many twists and turns of the book. The story about their love is very difficult and it really pulls you in with the many twists and turns of the book. Come check this book out to see what happens to Sam, the wolf, when winter roles around.

Diamond in the Rough

Lauren Diamond~

The book I am recommending this book is The Great Gatsby. I'm sure many people have read it already, but it is one of my all time favorite books. The plot line is phenomenal; and for me, it felt like there was never a dull moment. The scene is set in the roaring 20's, and everyone is partying because it is the time of the prohibition. It is the story about a man named Gatsby, and his struggles with the love of his life Daisy. I can't say too much about it, without giving away the whole book. So I suggest that if you have not read it already, you definitely should!

"Without libraries what have we? We have no past and no future."

Ray Bradbury

Noah's Work

Noah Wright~ As I work in the library 8th hour I get to look at a lot of books. I would like to recommend the Diary of the Wimpy Kid book. This book is cartoonish and is about school. I really like this book because it is a cartoon book and it is very easy to follow and read.

Shelby's Spot

Shelby O'Brian~ Need something to do? Do you feel like you've been stuck in your house with absolutely nothing to do but stare at a wall? Here is an idea! Check out all the of different recipe books in your High School Library. There is a wide range of options from cooking a five course meal to just a plain dessert. Find something that interest you and give it a try. Even have your family try these wonderful recipes, but whatever you do don't be a stick in the mud. Have some fun!!

Chamberlain's Sport Books

Austin Chamberlain~Sophomore Liam Bergstrom was tall and lengthy, just what the basketball team at his new school needed. He wasn't a very good basketball player though. The only reason he made the team was because he was tall. He's replacing an injured senior who was one of the team's leaders. But he now has to listen to his new coach and play the way the coach plays. So come in and pick up a copy of Box Out by John Coy today.

Bryant's Suggestions

Austin Bryant ~Intriguing book: Charlie Ashanti a young brave boy helps a lions escape the circus ship and secretly travel by train all the way from Paris to Venice. But his journey has only jus begun! How will Charlie get himself and his feline friends out of the palace that was meant to be a haven but now feels more like a prison! How can he find his kidnapped parents? Luckily a new ally has come on the scene the lion trainer Maccomo. So sink your claws back into the spell blinding tale of lionboy.

Andrew's Non-Fiction

Andrew Thomas~Steve Jobs revolution the technology world. Chances are, you have an iPhone in your pocket locker right now. But the man was much more complicated than Siri can tell you about. The Library is proud to house all the Steve Jobs things you want to know at 338.7. Happy reading!

"Libraries allow children to ask questions about the world and find the answers. And the wonderful thing is that once a child learns to use a library, the doors to learning are always open."

Movies Based On Books

Emily Lance ~One the most popular books currently is The Fault in Our Stars by John Green. This book follows the live of a girl named Hazel as she suffers and fights through Stage IV cancer. A new miracle medicine has given Hazel a few more years but as her life ticks away she continues to live her life to the best of her ability. This book is said to be honest and hilarious yet saddening. I think this will be a wonderful movie when it comes out June 6th of this year. I ryone read the this heartfelt surely be a love it comes out June 6th of this year. I recommend everyone read the book and go see movie that will of many.
